5. After the bumper is removed, then remove the original headlights (retaining the screws and springs on the original lights) and install the new headlights in the same way as the original lights were fixed, using the same operation on both sides.

6. After installing the left and right side of the headlights, connect the headlight wiring harness (you can start the car first to see if the headlights are normally energized), and then install back the bumper, hood and trim panels
Note: Turn signals are wired independently according to the actual situation).

7. Installation completed.
