1. First, remove the original vehicle hood and move the hood clip onto the new hood. As the picture shows:

2. Take out the two extension cables from the accessory package and connect one end of each extension cable to the two plug-in wire harnesses reserved in the original vehicle hood (plug-in 1 is connected to the yellow brown wire, plug-in 2 is connected to the black wire). First, disconnect the rear half of the wiring harness connector on the hood spotlight and connect it to the other end of the two extension cables (the extension cable of plug-in 2 is connected to the black wire, and the extension cable of plug-in 1 is connected to the red wire). All wiring harness interfaces need to be insulated and protected. As the picture shows:
